Our most exciting year yet!

The first stage of the $790 million Liverpool Health and Academic Precinct is heading towards completion this year with a hive of activity on the site.

Liverpool Hospital Acting General Manager Scott McGrath said the building was now beginning to resemble a real hospital!

“We’re excited to open the doors to the new four-storey tower later this year, which is the first of two stages in the redevelopment of Liverpool Hospital,” he said.

“The first stage will include a new main entrance, a new and expanded birthing unit, an expanded neonatal intensive care unit, a new entrance to the Emergency Department and wonderful new artworks developed with our community to complement the new building.

“It is wonderful we are now at the stage of fitting out our new departments and spaces.”

Hard hat tours in progress

Liverpool Hospital departments moving into their new spaces this year are receiving ‘sneak peeks’ of their new, contemporary units. Neonatal Intensive Care and Pathology teams recently toured their new departments and were impressed with the look and feel of their purpose-built spaces.

“The clinical spaces will look amazing,” Dr Jacqueline Stack, Head of Department, Neonatal Intensive care Unit, Liverpool Hospital, said. “We are very excited as we have been in our current location for 30 years and this can’t come fast enough.”
